Parliament Square development finally gets the all clear; Libs call to tighten third party appeal rights

The Liberals welcome the news that the redevelopment of Parliament Square will finally proceed after an appeal against the project was rejected.

We need positive developments like Parliament Square to go ahead so that we can show investors that Tasmania is open for business.

Under the Liberals planning reforms, frivolous third party appeals such as the one that has delayed the Parliament Square project wouldn't be allowed. We need to encourage sensible development, not throw up as many hurdles as possible.

Under the Green-Labor Government, projects will continue to be delayed and investors will continue to be frightened off by needlessly complicated and outdated planning laws.
